GENERAL ANTI-'RED' MOVEMENT

CHANG TSO-LIN'S DEMANDS.

NATIONALISTS TO ARREST BORODIN.

FRESH OUTBREAK OF FIGHTING IN HONAN.

CURIOUS WUHU INCIDENT.

While there is much speculation as to the prospects of an early end of the Chinese civil war, news comes from Hankow that there has been a fresh outbreak of fighting on the Honan front and that large numbers of wounded Nationalist soldiers are arriving at Hankow. The casualties are said to have been heavy.

Regarding the likelihood of peace, it is said that an important conference is about to take place at Chengchow and that, in view of the stipulation made by Marshal Chang Tso-lin regarding the expulsion of all Russians before he would consent to peace, the arrest of Borodin and other Russians has been ordered.

The situation in Hankow itself has very much improved, there being no open anti-foreignism. Britishers have now left the boats in which they were living on the river and are back on shore. The slow progress of General Yang Sen down river towards Hankow is still reported.

From Canton it is reported that an important movement is on foot for re-uniting the Kuomintang by the inclusion of those older leaders who left the party after the death of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen because of the growing Soviet influence. The Nanking party has invited this group to amalgamate with them.

EASIER SITUATION IN HANKOW.

Shanghai, June 7. Speculation is rife as to the prospects of an early end to the Civil War, but it is interesting in view of Chang Tso-lin's insistence on the expulsion of all Russians and Communists before he will make any concession, to learn from the Press that orders have been issued for the arrest of Borodin, and other Russians.

The American civil population at Peking is displaying considerable concern at their Government's decision to evacuate Peking, observing that Great Britain and Japan are determined to stay on. In Shanghai, the situation is normal.—Naval Wireless.

FIGHTING IN HONAN.

Better Conditions at Hankow.

Hankow, June 7. Further fighting appears to have broken out on the Honan front. Wounded Nationalist troops arrived at Hankow yesterday and to-day in large numbers, and it is reported that there have been many hundreds killed in the recent engagements.

A large quantity of captured war material has also arrived at Hankow from the front. A number of the local officials are reported to have left for Chengchow last night, and it is understood that an important conference is to be held there.

Hankow has quietened down and there is no sign of anti-foreign feeling now existing. The accommodation ships (ships used as dwelling-houses by foreigners who found it dangerous to live ashore) are being dispensed with, and the foreign population, which is at a minimum, is beginning to resume residence in the city.

It is reported that Yang Sen is continuing his slow advance down river towards Hankow, but General Sha Tao-yin appears to have dropped definitely out of the picture.—Naval Wireless.

SOLDIER PUNISHED.

For Fling at British Warship.

Wuhu, June 7. A curious incident occurred here to-day while a party of Nationalist troops were drilling on shore. The soldiers were engaged in rifle drill when one of them, it is believed under a misapprehension, discharged his rifle at H.M.S. Baradoc, which is lying off the Bund at Wuhu. The officer in charge ordered the man to his knees, severely beat him, and kept him there for half an hour.

The city remains quiet, and there is nothing further to report.—Naval Wireless.

ON THE YANGTZE.

Upper River Turmoil.

Shanghai, June 7. While conditions in the Upper Yangtze are gradually getting worse, below Hankow the situation is much quieter. All accommodation ships at Hankow, on which foreigners have been living for many weeks, have now been dispensed with.

Yesterday at Wuhu, a soldier while drilling fired on H.M.S. Baradoc without hitting the ship. He was thereupon kept on his knees for half an hour and beaten by the Chinese officer in charge, but whether the punishment was for firing or missing it is unknown.—Reuter.

ANTI-'REDS' ACTIVE.

Apprehension in Kiukiang.

Kiukiang, June 7. Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's anti-Red troops are continuing their activities in this region. They have advanced as far as Poyang Lake.

The remnants of the 6th Army and many of the civilian population of Kiukiang are for some reason leaving for the north bank, and moving up river.

Labour Unions in Kiukiang have been suppressed by the local military, who have declared their intention of turning over to Marshal Chiang Kai-shek.—Naval Wireless.

Little Anti-Foreign Feeling.

Nanking, June 7. Normal traffic is going on between Pukow and Nanking, and the situation generally is quiet. The anti-imperialist posters are still in evidence, though there appears to be little anti-foreign feeling.—Naval Wireless.

ANTI-RED ARMY.

Chan Kwing-ming Remnants to Join Canton.

Canton, June 7.

The remnants of Chan Kwing-ming's army, which has been scattered around the East River district, many of them engaging in the pursuit of banditry and piracy, are to be taken back into the Cantonese army by Gen. Li Chai-sum. Since Chan Kwing-ming's last debacle, these nomad forces, numbering at least 10,000, many without arms, have been a constant trouble to the villagers, and Gen. Li Chai-sum believes that it is an easy way out of a difficult situation to invite them to rejoin the Cantonese army, to which they formerly belonged.

It is understood that the troops themselves sent representatives to Canton to take up the matter of re-organisation with Li Chai-sum, and that they made no terms other than that they should be accepted as Cantonese regulars and receive pay regularly from Canton military headquarters.

General Li Chai-sum has sent emissaries to the East River district to influence them to re-join his command under those terms, and it is thought that negotiations will shortly be completed.—Nam Chung Pao.

RE-UNITING KUOMINTANG.

Former Leaders Invited to Nanking.

Canton, June 7. That all "honest" Kuomintang members should be invited back to participate in the Nationalist movement, is the latest policy of the present Kuomintang regime.

According to a telegram, just received from Nanking, Mr. Wu Han-min, the Kuomintang political chief, has addressed a communication to leaders of the "Sishan Conference Clique" asking them to let bygones be bygones and come to Nanking immediately, to render service to the Nationalist Government there. Mr. Wu also sent Mr. Yeh Tao-sing, a prominent overseas Kuomintang leader, to Shanghai to call on the leaders of the "Sishan Conference Clique" there, asking them to help the Nanking Government.

The "Sishan Conference Clique" as many will remember, consists of a number of older Kuomintang leaders, such as Messrs. Chau Lu, Che Tsi, Chang Chi, Fung Tse-yau, etc. These leaders split with the Kuomintang in Canton after the death of Dr. Sun Yat-sen on the ground that Canton was under Soviet influence. These leaders then held a Conference in Sishan, Peking, and decided to organise a separate Kuomintang Central Committee. This Central Committee was later established in Shanghai, and has been existing till the present moment. Now that the Nanking party is inviting these leaders to join them again, the Sishan leaders have agreed to abolish the Shanghai Kuomintang Central Committee and have it amalgamated with the Nanking Central Headquarters.—Nam Chung Pao.

PAKHOI COMMUNISTS.

Government Round-Up.

Our Pakhoi correspondent reports that there has been much anti-Red activity there within recent days.

Last week, there was a round-up of Communists, and a large batch of them was arrested and thrown into prison. Up to the time of writing, eight of these Reds had been shot on the public execution ground.

The case of one of the leaders of the Communists is particularly interesting. He was a youth of 18, named Pan Kwok-ting, the son of a well-known gambling-house proprietor of Pakhoi. This youth had been a student at the Pui Ching Academy at Canton, and was formerly an apparently devout Christian. In a raid on his quarters, the authorities discovered a considerable quantity of Communist literature.

Prior to his execution, the young man addressed an inflammatory, anti-Government speech to the assembled crowd. He was then shot dead, falling with seven bullet wounds.

Another of those executed was also a man with the family name of Pan, and he was a few years ago the companion of a foreign employee of the British American Tobacco Company, when they were captured by bandits, and kept in the hands of their captors for some time, in the Pakhoi district.

Anti-Red Procession. A few days after these executions, the authorities called a big anti-Red Public meeting, and

CHINESE POLITICS AT GENEVA.

MR. CHAO HSIN-CHU CALLED TO ORDER.

HIS SPEECH INTERRUPTED.

Geneva, June 7. Mr. Chao Hsin-chu made a remarkable speech at the Labour Conference, and was called to order by the chairman owing to the political character of some of his utterances, but he exclaimed that his instructions were to make a speech on these lines.

Mr. Chao Hsin-chu advocated the appointment of a correspondent to the Labour Office in China, not only for the sake of China, but also in the interest of the Labour organisation. He assured the Conference that China would send a complete delegation to future conferences as soon as the Chinese trade unions were well organised. He alluded to the Chinese factory regulations not being applied to the international settlements, where he declared that extra-territoriality was being abusively enjoyed.

Mr. Chatterjee called the speaker to order, and remarked that political discussion was out of place there, but the Chinese delegate excitedly continued, amid general laughter and noise. He declared that Chinese industries were handicapped by the non-existence of tariff autonomy. He finally appealed to the Conference for its sympathy and moral support in liberating China from the yoke of the foreign Powers (more interruption), otherwise there was no possibility of China adapting herself to the modern labour system. He assured the Conference that after the abolition of the unequal treaties China would hold herself responsible for the fulfilment of the obligations of the Labour conventions.

The speech did not produce a favourable impression on the Conference.—Reuter.

BRITISH FLYING-BOATS.

LEADERS OF FLIGHT TO AUSTRALIA.

London, June 7. Group Captain H.M. Cave-Brown-Cave will be the commander, and Squadron Leader G. E. Liveock, the second-in-command, of the flying boats which are shortly proceeding on a flight to Singapore and Australia via the Dutch East Indies.—Reuter.

CHAMBERLIN IN BERLIN.

WILL TOUR EUROPE BY AIR.

Berlin, June 7. The airman Chamberlin arrived at Tempelhof aerodrome this evening in the "Columbia" amid the cheers of 50,000 people. The "Columbia" was escorted by four-tuple aeroplanes. The airman, prior to landing, cruised over the city for twenty minutes, while the crowds in the streets waved their hats and cheered.

After landing, the airman was greeted by the American Ambassador, Dr. Curtius, the German Minister of Economics, and the Burgomaster of Berlin. Afterwards they motored to the American Embassy.

Chamberlin states that he is not returning to America by air, but will make a flying tour of Europe, and visit Paris, Vienna and London.—Reuter.

London's Welcome Prepared.

London, June 7. Speaking over the telephone to London to-day, Chamberlin, the Atlantic airman, stated his intention to come to London in a few days. He declared his machine has now been rescued from the swamp, and fit, if necessary, for a return flight to America.

It is considered doubtful in flying circles here that such an effort will be seriously contemplated. To cross the Atlantic in a westerly direction is a more difficult undertaking, since no assistance from a following wind can be expected. It has never been accomplished in a non-stop flight by aeroplane.

Among the arrangements made for Chamberlin's reception in London, is a Royal Aero Club banquet similar to that given in honour of Lindbergh.—British Wireless.

MINISTER SHOT.

SOVIET NOTE SENT TO POLAND.

"AN ORGANISED CAMPAIGN."

Warsaw, June 7. The Soviet Minister to Poland, who has been assassinated by a young Russian Monarchist, is named Voikov, and was president of the Ekaterinberg Provincial Soviet when the Tsar and other members of the Imperial Russian family were shot there in 1919.

He was one of the original members of the Russian Communist Party, and was often imprisoned under the Tsarist regime. He resided for some time in Switzerland, where he was closely associated with Lenin.

The assassin, Kowceda, is a Russian college boy from Vilna, and a member of the Russian Monarchist Party in Poland.—Reuter.

Moscow's Protest.

Moscow, June 7. The Soviet has handed a preliminary Note to the Polish Minister here, expressing the opinion that the assassination of Voikov is bound up with a whole series of acts aiming at destroying the Soviet diplomatic representation abroad, and directly threatening peace. It cites in this connexion the raid at Peking on the Soviet Embassy, the blockade of the Shanghai Consulate, the police attack on the trade delegation in London, and Britain's provocative rupture of diplomatic relations, which the Note says has loosened the activity of the terroristic groups.

The Soviet accuses Poland of negligence, in failing to take precautions against the activities of the Russian counter-revolutionary organisations.—Reuter.

Earlier Telegrams.

Warsaw, June 7. A young Russian monarchist fired a revolver at, and wounded the Soviet Minister to Poland as the latter was leaving for Moscow. The Minister was rushed to hospital and his assailant arrested.—Reuter.

The Soviet Minister has succumbed.

Eight Shots Fired.

The assassin, Boris Kowceda, aged 19, fired eight shots at the Minister was entraining for Warsaw to accompany M. Rosengolz to Moscow from London.

The Minister, M. Roskow, was walking along the station platform in company with M. Rosengolz when the assassin, Kowceda, approached and fired several revolver shots.

M. Roskow fell. Some passengers rushed to his assistance while others seized Kowceda. Several bullets entered M. Roskow's chest.

Kowceda subsequently stated that he shot M. Roskow for political reasons.—Reuter.

CONCERT FOR TROOPS.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL EVENING.

There was another very enjoyable evening spent by many service men at the Y.M.C.A. Chatter Road, last night, when the usual Tuesday night concert, organised by Mrs. W. T. Costen, was held.

Among those contributing were Miss Eileen Woods, Mrs. R. Sanger and Dr. MacCandless, and many of the soldiers themselves. The community singing was as heartily enjoyed as ever.

We learn that, owing to her impending departure from the Colony, Mrs. Costen is relinquishing the organisation of the Tuesday evening concerts and that, pending her sailing, she will assist Mr. G. W. C. Burnett in the organisation of concerts each alternate Friday night. We understand that a very special programme has been arranged for Friday, from 6.30 to 10.30 p.m.

MAINTENANCE ORDER SOUGHT.

MR. B. A. HYDER SUMMONED BY WIFE.

DATES REQUIRED.

At the Central Magistracy this morning before Major C. Willson, the case in which Mrs. Halima Hyder is summoning her husband, Mr. B. A. Hyder was again before the court, when an explanation of the reason why the defendant did not appear last Wednesday, when the case was adjourned was made.

Mrs. Hyder then summoned her husband for desertion, but to-day she applied for maintenance; for an order that she will no longer be bound to co-habit with the defendant; and an order that she be given the custody of the two children.

Mr. Horace Lo is for the complainant, and the defence is being conducted by Mr. D. McCallum.

Mr. D. McCallum said Mr. Hyder was not in court last Wednesday because he did not know the first thing about the proceedings or that there was any summons against him. He was in Macao at the time the summons was left at the house, and the case never came to his knowledge until he saw it in the local press.

Strange Remarks.

His Worship:—I accept that. Mr. McCallum continued that last week strange remarks were made to the effect that the defendant would probably not turn up, which rather pre-supposed and suggested that he might have something to hide.

Mr. Horace Lo, who is for the complainant, remarked that the defendant's absence justified such remarks.

The defendant was in court this morning, and Mr. Lo, in asking His Worship whether he intended to hear the case then or adjourn, said he had been instructed that the chances were that the defendant would not appear.

Mr. McCallum:—A presumption which has not materialised.

Mr. Lo asked leave to amend the summons to read to the effect that the defendant deserted the complainant and neglected to provide reasonable maintenance for the complainant and her infant children.

Desertion Charge Withdrawn.

Mr. McCallum asked, in order to save future difficulties, that the date of the alleged desertion should be given.

Mr. Lo replied that the facts were that the defendant had undoubtedly left the complainant and was living apart from her, but they did not rely on that summons so much as the second one.

His Worship:—I think some date should be given.

Mr. McCallum:—A date must be given, your Worship. Mr. Lo said he did not press that summons and was prepared to withdraw the charge of desertion. Mr. McCallum said he still did not know what he had to answer. He understood that if the defendant had neglected to provide maintenance it must have been during a certain period, and he wanted to know the period.

Mr. Lo replied that in evidence he would bring facts forward which would show that the defendant had neglected to provide reasonable maintenance for the last year and a half.

His Worship adjourned the case until Friday afternoon.

POLICE DESERTER.

"PUNISHED TOO MANY TIMES."

Four months' hard labour was the sentence passed this morning by Major C. Willson on a Chinese who deserted from the police force on September 26 last.

Mr. W. le B. Sparrow, who prosecuted, said that the man had only been four months with the force and in that short space of time had several reports against him. He was actually recommended for dismissal from the force when he deserted.

The defendant said that he had been punished far too many times and he was afraid he was going to be sent to gaol and in order to avoid such an occurrence he thought it better to desert.

ALLIED NORTH.

ANKUOCHUN ARMY TO BE REORGANIZED.

NEW PLAN WORKED OUT.

Peking, May 27. The army under the command of Chang Tsung-chang is to be reorganised and reinforced "both in name and in fact" by the addition of troops now directly in control of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, according to an authentic statement coming from the high military circles in Peking.

Due to the recent developments in the war game it has become essential for the Ankuochun to consolidate all available forces under the banner of the North, which includes the men under Marshal Sun Chuan-fang and Yen Hsi-shan's troops. (Not now—Ed.) Both of these armies, however, have proved to be of little value to Marshal Chang which means that a fresh start must be made with Chang Tsung-chang's forces as the basis.

The plan as being worked out will be as follows: the army that has been holding the Tsin-pu line, under General Chang Tsung-chang, will be organised under the Chihli-Shantung Alliance, a unit having its origin at the time of Li Ching-shan's declaration of independence of the Chihli provincial power and his struggles against Feng Yu-shiang.

The Stumbling Block.

On the establishment of the Ankuochun Headquarters in Tientsin Chang Tsung-chang has been made the vice-commander of the "Tranquillity National Army"—the Ankuochun, but the forces under him were still bearing the insignia of the Chihli-Shantung Allies. This difference in name, small as it is, has been a stumbling block in the path of a united organisation.

After the strategic retreat as ordered by Chang Tsung-chang, this chief, after reaching Hsuehchow, voiced his definite opinion and declared in the military conference which he had convened, that he was about to resign as commander-in-chief of the Chihli-Shantung Allies and that all troops under him were to be handed over to Marshal Chang.

Although no decision was reached in this conference all of the subordinates of Chang Tsung-chang realised that such a move would strengthen the morale of the men fighting on the fronts who were in dire need of additional encouragement before any kind of agreement would materialise.

Solid Military Face.

Marshal Chang Tso-lin has sanctioned this step and has ordered the forces now directly under him to move in two divisions onto Hsuehchow—one via the Lung-hai line from Chenow, the other, by way of Tang Shan. At the same time reinforcements have been sent in motion this side of the Great Wall between Kirin and Heilungkiang.

It is pointed out in military circles that this is the best move the Ankuochun has made since its arrival from Manchuria. A solid military face will soon be perfected east and west of Chenow and Hsuehchow. It has begun to show a sparkling single colour which can truly be called Mukden, under which all the North can be allied and make a formidable long formation immediately in front of the Yellow River to challenge the advancing armies from the South," states our informant. It is actually the first signs of a genuine theatre of war.

EGYPT'S REPLY TO BRITAIN.

NOT SUFFICIENTLY DEFINITE.

London, June 7. The Egyptian Government's reply to the Note, in which the British Government last week expressed a desire for an agreed settlement of various outstanding questions relating to the Egyptian Army, has been carefully considered in London, where it was received during the week-end.

While the reply reflects the conciliatory tone of the British Note, and expresses in general terms a desire for co-operation, it is understood to lack definiteness on certain specific points. Elucidation is being sought in this respect, and the conversations are continuing in Cairo.—British Wireless.

BUS INCIDENT.

CONDUCTOR FINED FOR ASSAULTING POLICE.

The difficulty of differentiating at a glance between buses travelling to Kowloon City via Hunghom and those passing along the new route through Kowloon Tong, led to a slight altercation between a Portuguese passenger and a conductor of the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, on Monday afternoon.

Sergeant Jessop intervened in the argument, which was taking place between the two at the junction of Nathan and Salisbury Roads, and was in the act of taking the conductor to the Station when the latter remonstrated and struck the Police officer two blows on the side.

The conductor was accordingly taken to the station by force, and at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday was charged before Mr. W. Schofield with assaulting Sergeant Jessop.

In evidence Sergeant Jessop said that he saw the passenger and the defendant arguing, and he intervened. The conductor grabbed the passenger by the hand, and later gave him a push.

Witness requested the defendant to accompany him to the station, where his name and address could be taken for the purpose of taking out a summons for assault on the passenger. The defendant refused to go, and moved towards the Portuguese again.

Sergeant Jessop then caught him by the shoulder, and pushed him in the direction of the station. The defendant turned round and struck witness two blows. It was with some difficulty that the man was eventually taken to the station.

Followed the Sign.

Mr. L. A. Gutierrez said that he boarded the defendant's bus to go to the Club de Recreio ground, intending to travel via Chatham Road. The route sign indicated "Kowloon City."

On tendering his fare, witness said that he wanted to go along the Hunghom route and was informed by the conductor that the bus was not passing Hunghom. The conductor handed back the fare to witness and instructed him to alight.

Witness, who was carrying a tennis racket at the time, was deliberating whether he should remain on the bus and continue until Jordan Road before alighting or whether he should wait for another bus. He was then standing on the footboard and losing his balance he grabbed at the defendant's arm to steady himself.

The conductor became abusive, and stopping the bus, alighted. He caught the passenger by the arm, but was interrupted by Sergeant Jessop.

Witness corroborated the sergeant's account of the subsequent proceedings, and on the defendant not making a statement, his Worship imposed a fine of $10.

Bombay, June 7.
The refusal of the Government of India to give the Bombay Mill industry a protective tariff came as a bombshell to the Bombay mill-owners who fully expected more material assistance. Outside Bombay there is little sympathy for the mill-owners but Bombay is hard hit.

Mill shares to-day opened at substantially lower prices.—Reuter.

VALEDICTORY.

RETIREMENT OF MR. F. A. W. FISHER, R.S.P.C.A.

The sailing of the Suva Maru for England will mark the departure of an old timer in the Colony and one who is well known for his work in various branches of community life and particularly for his services in connexion with the Hongkong branch of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

This is Mr. Frederick Alfred William Fisher. Born in Clifton, England, in 1863, Mr. Fisher came to China as a boy in the Royal Navy on board the Wild Swan, in 1885 and after being transferred to H.M.S. Victor Emmanuel, left that ship in 1888 to take charge of s.s. Perseverance on the Macao run.

The steamship company owning this vessel going into liquidation in 1892, Mr. Fisher joined H. M. Naval Yard Police as a constable and transferred to the Supreme Court three years later as bailiff, and 12 months later to the Sanitary Department.

Proceeding to England in 1902, Mr. Fisher obtained the certificate of the Sanitary Institute and also of the Carpenters' Hall for building construction. He was appointed Senior Sanitary Inspector in 1906 and retired on pension from Government service in 1920, after which he acted for a time as storeman at Taikeo Docks and then joined the S.P.C.A. as Inspector.

During the war, he acted as Musketry Instructor and Inspector to the H. K. Police Reserve, for which he was granted a special Police Medal for services rendered and was also commended on two occasions for excellent work, once during the typhoon of 1906 and again for services at the race-course fire of 1918.

At various times has been Treasurer of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Treasurer of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Treasurer of St. Patrick's Club, Steward of the Civil Service Club, of which he is a founding member, and until this year was actively connected with the Boxing Association, as a member since its inception.

Mr. Fisher's favourite recreation is lawn bowls and his was a familiar figure on the greens throughout every season, he winning the Craigengower Cricket Club Championship in 1922.

He has linguistic abilities above the average, speaking many Chinese dialects with fluency, besides Portuguese and Spanish. In his retirement to his home in Horton, Gloucestershire, the good wishes of his exiled countrymen will follow him.

BRITAIN AND EGYPT.

PESSIMISTIC RUMOURS.

Cairo, June 7.
There are pessimistic rumours in connexion with the Anglo-Egyptian dispute over the Egyptian army and the Egyptian reply to the British Note handed to Lord Lloyd on the 3rd the terms of which have not been divulged, but according to the Egyptian Press Lord Lloyd regards the reply as unacceptable.

The Alahram adds that the Mediators failed to reconcile the Residency and the Egyptian Government and asserts that the British delay in replying to the Egyptian Note was due to the fact that Britain is considering whether to send an ultimatum or a further friendly note, but in any event the Journal declares that the Egyptian Government will maintain its attitude, relying on the support of Parliament.—R. uter.

COUNSEL BRIEFED.

STEP TOWARDS TRIAL OF
MRS. BORODIN.

Peking, May 26.
The Higher Procuratorate has completed the preliminary investigation of Mrs. Borodin and the three Russian couriers taken from the s.s. Pamiat Lenina and started a public suit against them in accordance with article 101 of the Chinese Criminal Code, which relates to offences against the State.

Mr. Shen Chia-yi, Chief Justice of the Higher Court, has appointed Judge Ho Chin to take charge of the trial of the case. Mr. Ho is now conducting a preliminary examination of Mrs. Borodin and the three couriers. As soon as this is completed the formal trial will take place.

In addition to Dr. Charles J. Fox, the Russian prisoners have retained the services of a well-known Chinese attorney in Tientsin, Mr. Kuo Ting-pao. Both Dr. Fox and Mr. Kuo are now in Peking. They have succeeded in getting an interview with Mrs. Borodin and her three companions, and the Higher Court also has agreed to place all the documents seized from the Soviet steamer at their disposal so that they may prepare their case for the defence.

The formal trial will be open to the public. The court has assured counsel for the defence that they will be allowed to defend the prisoners in court.

"RED" PROPAGANDA.

FRANCE DETERMINED TO PUT STOP TO IT.

Angers, June 7.
Speaking at the inauguration of the monument erected in memory of those who died in the war M. Barthou, Minister of Justice, emphasised national union and stressed the entire confidence and admiration of the members of the Government for M. Poincare.

He added that the Cabinet would not permit men receiving orders from abroad to carry out propaganda which might result in France's perdition. The Government were conscious of their duty and would not fail therein.—Havas.

GREEK TEMPLES IN GIRGENTI.—During the excavations promoted by Captain A. Harcourt at Girgenti, Sicily, these two archaic altars, probably of about 550 B.C., have been discovered. They were only a foot below the path close to the temple of Castor and Pollux. One is of square form, 15ft. across, and the other circular, 25ft. diameter. (Times copyright).

NEWLY WEDDED.—Mr. Randall Gould and his bride, Miss Helen Cook, who were married recently at Peking. Mr. and Mrs. Gould, who are both well known in the newspaper world, left Shanghai for a trip to Hankow recently.

POLO AT SHANGHAI.—Shanghai is fortunate in having a number of first class polo players among the services now stationed there. These players have been active since the commencement of the season getting used to the whims and tricks of the China pony. Photograph shows Army players in a pick up chukker with some of the local polo men.

THE TWO THOUSAND GUINEAS.—Mr. C. W. S. Whitburn's Adam's Apple beating the favourite, Mr. F. Curzon's Call Boy (the Derby winner), by a short head in the Two Thousand Guineas at Newmarket. Lord Derby's Nettle was third. (Times copyright).

FASHIONABLE CHINESE WEDDING.—Group taken after the wedding last month, at Shanghai, of Mr. Lee Tsung-ming and Miss Wong Pao-chu. Mr. Lee was educated at Berlin University and Miss Wong at the Anglo-Chinese Girls' School, Shanghai.

JAPANESE AIRSHIP.—Japan's newest and greatest dirigible, the N-3, sister ship of the Norge, is shown as it stands ready for a trial flight. Major General Umberto Nobile supervised the setting up of the super-ship, but the engineers forgot to make a door in the hangar big enough to take it out. One side of the structure had to be removed.

"VIVISECTION" OF A MAN.

LORD HALDANE'S NEPHEW AS SUBJECT.

A distinguished young physiologist, who was vivisected recently by Lord Haldane, in the House of Lords during a debate on experiments on animals.

The physiologist had recently told Lord Haldane "There is an experiment which has to be made and should be made on a dog, and it cannot possibly be made under an anaesthetic. There is only one way for it, and I have come up to be vivisected."

Lord Haldane said that this showed that some of the experiments stopped from being made on animals by law are experiments which human beings, with a desire for knowledge, are ready to undergo.

It is a nephew of Lord Haldane—Mr. J. B. S. Haldane—reader of Bio-chemistry at Cambridge—who has been the subject of delicate experiments at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London, conducted by Professor F. Fraser.

The ordeal through which he passed included an artificial method of producing in him acidosis—an acidic state of the blood which occurs in diabetes.

A Blood Test.

This having been obtained, blood was taken from one of his femoral arteries by Professor Fraser, who used it to determine the exact change that had taken place in the blood's alkalinity. This change of the most minute quantity has been determined, and the details are to be published shortly. Several attempts to produce acidosis in himself had previously been made by Mr. Haldane in the laboratory of his father, Professor J. S. Haldane, at Oxford. He had consumed quantities of certain acids, but owing to the resistance of the human body to any disturbance of its internal environment, he failed.

The acidosis produced in himself by consuming ammonium chloride was sufficient, it was stated yesterday, to cause Mr. Haldane to pant as if he was running up a steep mountain.

In allowing his body to be the subject of such experiments, Mr. Haldane is following the example of his father (a brother of Lord Haldane), who had an artery in his right wrist frequently opened after he had breathed quantities of carbonic acid gas, the blood being taken for analysis.

CONVICTS ESCAPE.

WARDERS OVERPOWERED AND TIED UP

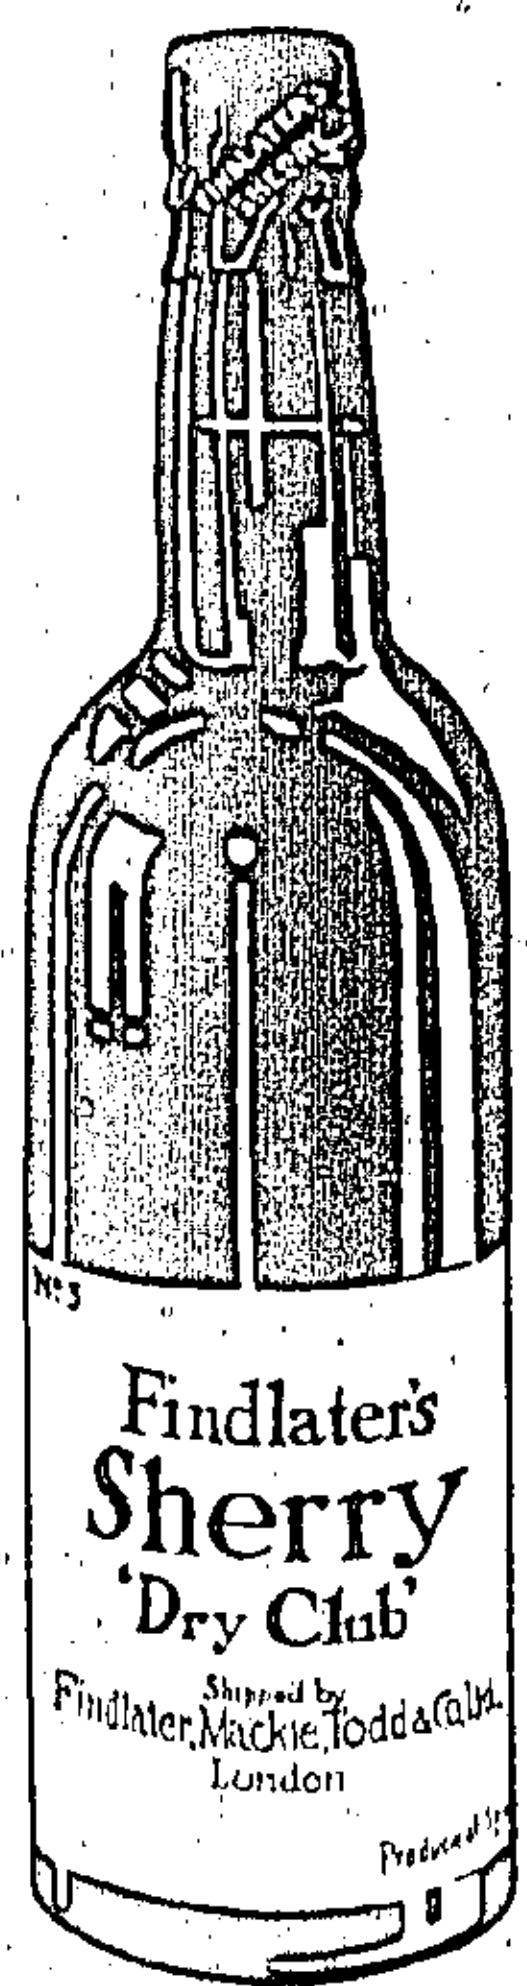

Sensational escapes were made from Belfast Prison about four o'clock in the morning, early last month, four convicts three of whom were undergoing life sentences for murder, getting away after the warders had been bound and disarmed.

The escape had been very carefully planned, and was effected with connivance from outside. It appears that the warders were suddenly overpowered in some way, being tied up, and their revolvers taken from them.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION.

ANCIENT ORDER DOING MUCH GOOD WORK.

The local branch of the St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade is already well known for its wide appeal and efficiency, and it has on several occasions demonstrated its value to the community.

Although most people are aware of the great work which the St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade are performing in the relief of human suffering, very few people realise that these organisations have their origin in the Order of St. John—the most ancient Order of chivalry—which was in existence at the time of the Crusades.

Early in the eleventh century a hospital existed in Jerusalem to minister to the needs of the Christian pilgrims who came from all parts of Europe to visit the Holy City. When in 1087 the Crusaders besieged Jerusalem, the hospice was in charge of a body of men calling themselves "The Poor Brethren of the Hospital of St. John," and these men devoted their lives to the relief of suffering and the administration of hospitality to the pilgrims. It was around this hospital that the Order of St. John developed, and although in later years the Knights became one of the greatest military organisations in Christendom, they still maintained and developed the humanitarian side of their work, as their name—Knight Hospitaller—denotes.

Ambulance Branch.
Although it was not until 1877 that the St. John Ambulance Association officially came into existence as a department of the Order of St. John, the revived Order had shown much interest in Ambulance work prior to that date, and many members enrolled in the British National Aid Society which was formed during the Franco-German war. Following the advent of the St. John Ambulance Association, there was a great advance in First Aid work, the ambulance instruction classes of the Association being especially popular in the mining areas of Derbyshire and Nottingham. In 1879 the first manual of ambulance instruction was published.

How the organisation has developed since, is a matter of common knowledge.

MARCONI MARRIAGE ANNULMENT.

THE SACRED ROTA ISSUES ITS SENTENCE.

The Tribunal of the Sacred Rota has communicated privately to the interested parties the sentence in the Marconi-O'Brien marriage annulment case, says a message from Rome.

The sentence states that numerous witnesses proved beyond a shadow of doubt that Senator Marconi and the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien married with the distinct understanding that either could sue for divorce if their life together became intolerable. Canon 1085 of the Canon Law says that a marriage is null if the marriage contract contains anything contrary to the substance of matrimony. One of the essential qualities of a wedding, according to Catholic doctrine, is that it is indissoluble. Therefore, the sentence continues, there is no doubt that the Marconi-O'Brien marriage is null.

The sentence goes at length into the history of how Senator Marconi met the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien in Dorsetshire, 24 years ago. He asked her to become his wife, but her mother objected, saying so many weddings turned out badly that she refused to let her daughter marry if the bond was indissoluble as it was for Catholics. This difficulty was only overcome by Senator Marconi entering into an agreement, not only with the ## ACCIDENT TO FIRE ENGINE.

THREE SHANGHAI FIREMEN SENT TO HOSPITAL.

A fatal accident was narrowly averted on Carter Road the other evening when one of the engines of the Sinza Fire Division was proceeding to an outbreak in that section at 7.13 p.m. The machine, a Cadillac, swung around Avenue Road corner into Carter Road north, the driver evidently failing to observe that the road was "up for repairs" and the laying of new tram rails in process. Several lines lay exposed, covering almost the entire width of the road, constituting a scene similar to an ordinary railway station yard.

The machine was travelling at a good speed and there was no time to avoid the treacherous rails. A. S. O. Miller, who was in charge of the machine and riding beside the driver, yelled to his men to "Jump!" and save themselves. They all did so. Had they not followed his advice there is every possibility that one or two of them at least would have been killed.

As the men jumped from the machine they came into contact with the exposed tram rails and Mr. Miller and two of the Chinese firemen were badly hurt, the two latter being rendered unconscious. Three minutes later the ambulance wagon was summoned and proceeded to the spot where first aid was rendered to the wounded. A. S. O. Miller generously gave instructions that the two Chinese firemen be first rushed off to hospital as they were unconscious though he himself was fully conscious and in great pain from severe abrasions to his legs, one of which he was holding as though broken. All three received very severe cuts and abrasions to various parts of their bodies and are at present in hospital in great pain. The Cadillac was practically undamaged.

Busy Brigade.

This alarm was the 12th to be turned in within 48 hours which comes very nearly being a record for Shanghai. It was while at Central Station checking up on the fire returns that an opportunity was presented to a Shanghai Times reporter, of witnessing the Shanghai Fire Brigade in action.

The call came to Central Station at about 9.20 o'clock last night. The buzzer which announced the receipt of the call acted like magic upon the station staff. The station premises became positively alive with men, and the air also. Down the brass pole they flashed in an almost unbroken line, clutching clothes and helmets and leaping on to their respective machines in a twinkling.

Within 20 seconds the first machine had clanged its way out of the front door and three other machines followed at intervals of five seconds until within less than 60 seconds four machines, including an escape, were dashing to the scene of the fire which was at the corner of Foochow and Hupeh Roads.

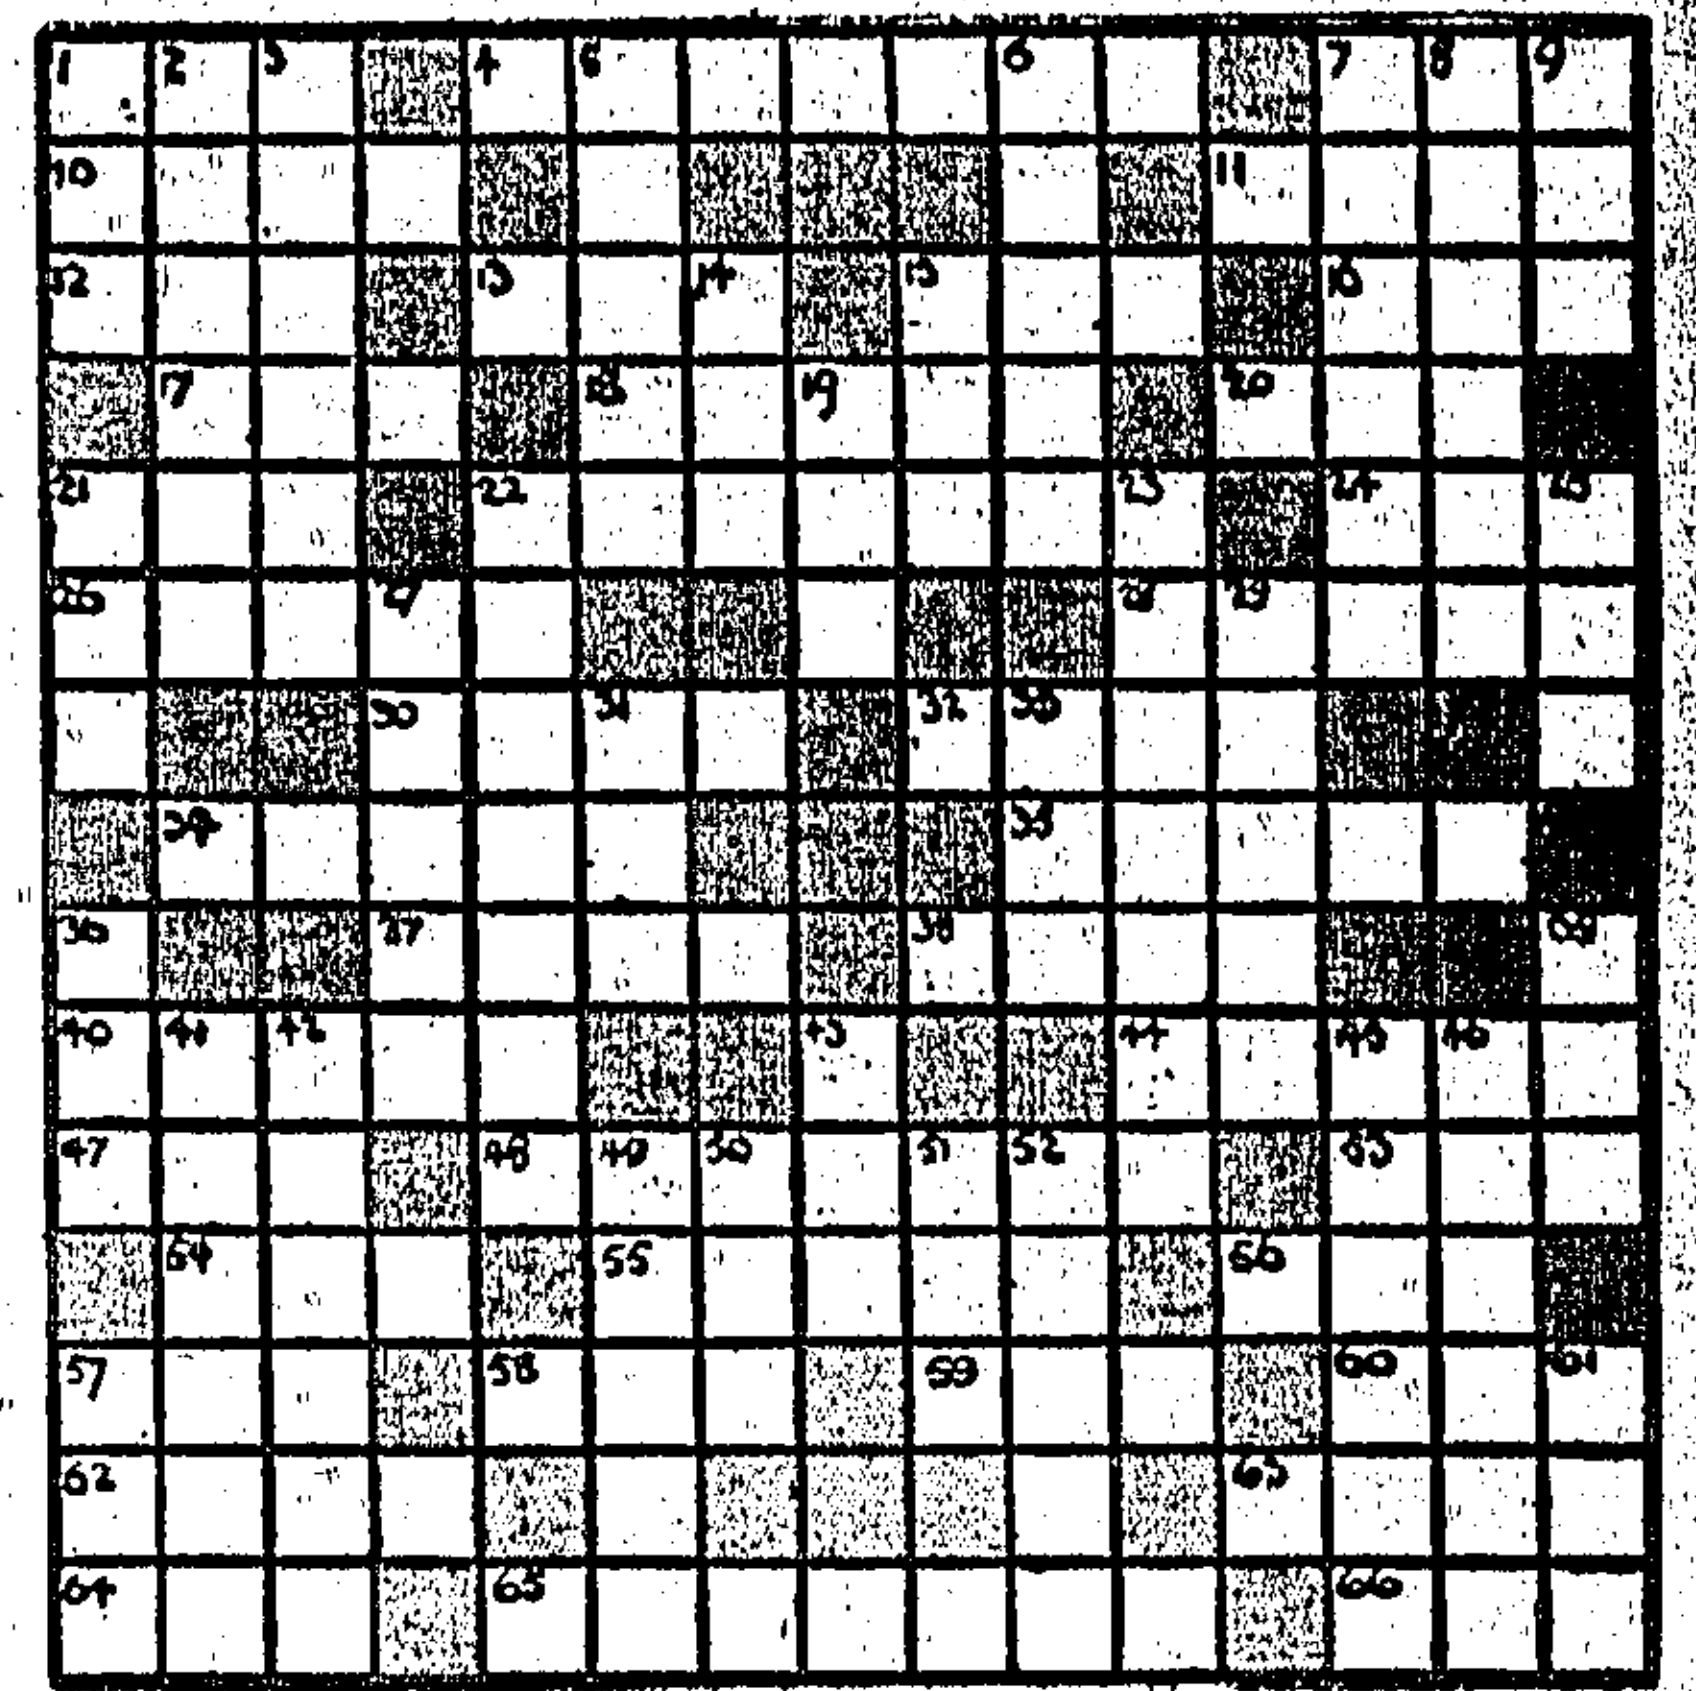

But very soon the first of the machines was observed returning to the Station to await the next call, which would make No. 13. The fire was out!

Hon. Beatrice O'Brien, but also with her mother, and with the whole family, whereby it was expressly stated that either party could sue for divorce at any time he or she thought fit.

The Hon. Beatrice O'Brien and all her family, the sentence points out, were Protestant, while Senator Marconi was baptised a Catholic, but was brought up in the Protestant faith.

The wedding, after Senator Marconi had agreed to her mother's conditions, was celebrated in the Anglican Church of St. George's, London. The agreement, the sentence further remarks, was never revoked as Senator Marconi and the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien separated in 1918, and were divorced in Fiume in 1924.

RETIREMENT OF MR. V. G. LYMAN.

TRIBUTE TO HIS SERVICES AT SHANGHAI.

Recently, his associates in the Shanghai Office of the Standard Oil Company of New York tendered Mr. V. G. Lyman a farewell dinner at the Majestic Hotel on the occasion of his retirement after 25 years' service with the company. Sixty Socony men were present at this dinner. Mr. H. J. Everall made an address of appreciation on behalf of Mr. Lyman's colleagues present and absent, after which, Mr. H. J. Sheridan presented Mr. Lyman with a handsome token of the regard in which the popular assistant General Manager is held by his fellow workers in Socony. Mr. Lyman feelingly responded to these addresses amid cheers and songs.

Mr. Everall said, in part: "During these several years, Mr. Lyman, with his hearty co-operation, unbounded geniality and tact, has unquestionably endeared himself to both the Chinese and foreign members of the north China staff of Socony."

"Not only in Socony matters has Mr. Lyman been to the fore; he has also been active in public affairs. For some years he has been a Municipal Councillor—later carefully watching those that did not heed the curfew hour and seeing that we were well protected during the recent turbulent times. We wish warmly to thank Mr. Lyman now for what he has done for all of us as members of this Community. The Union Club, inaugurated to bring together Americans, Chinese and British; of which Mr. Lyman has been and is the President, has had his constant attention and patronage. In the American Chamber of Commerce, Whangpoo Conservancy Board and other business and social spheres, Mr. Lyman has rendered many hours of labour, and invaluable service."

"May he always be able daily thoroughly to enjoy those familiarly fragrant and excellent after breakfast, till and dinner cigars, and may his shadow never grow less."

TAIWAN BAY BEACH.

CONSIDERABLE IMPROVEMENT EFFECTED.

Although still further time and labour might be expended to useful purpose, considerable improvement has been effected by the Government at the bathing beach at Taiwan Bay since the Telegraph's criticisms of a month ago, and today the general appearance is quite presentable.

The principal deficiency at present is the lack of accommodation. The beach is becoming more widely patronised, until its dressing rooms are taxed to their limits, particularly during the week-end.

Since a Telegraph representative last paid a visit to the beach, the old conic matsheds, which formed the most conspicuous feature of the surroundings, have been removed, the beach has been cleared of all large stones, and the atmosphere generally rendered more salubrious.

Chinese poems and eulogies, written by well-known scholars throughout China have been received during the past few days by Mr. Liang, congratulating him on the occasion.

INDIAN TEXTILES.

DECISION DOES NOT AFFECT LANCASHIRE.

London, June 7.

A representative meeting of employers' organisations engaged in the Lancashire cotton industry met to-day in Manchester to consider the report of the Indian Tariff Board on cotton textile industries, the demand for protection, and the decisions regarding them of the Government of India, which have just been published.

The Board had recommended financial assistance for establishing bleaching, dyeing and finishing works at Bombay, and a bounty on certain yarns, and by a majority it proposed that the import duty on cotton piece goods should be increased from eleven to fifteen per cent. for three years.

The Government of India has not accepted the recommendations for a bounty or increase in the import duty on piece goods.

Legislation will be introduced in the autumn to remove the import duties on textile machinery and stores, which was also recommended by the Board.

To-day's Manchester meeting declared that the decision does not directly affect Lancashire.

Hope was expressed that a position would be created in which the requirements of the Indian market would be met increasingly by India's own manufacturers in their class of production, and by Lancashire in goods upon which she concentrates.—British Wireless

CHINESE PUBLICITY.

PROPAGANDA IN SHANGHAI.

The Shanghai police reports lately have been laden with the translations of the handbills, cartoons, and slogans which were broadcast during the mass meetings held on May 30. More than a score of these have been translated, while hundreds of others lie in the police department untranslated.

The texts of most of these were tirades against the Communists, the imperialists and the militarists, red Russia coming in for her part of the slander as well as the British and Japanese "imperialists."

One series of cartoons is particularly interesting. The first is called the Three Periods of Communism in China and depicts (a) the Communists, carrying a balloon, and going into Hankow secretly; (b) the Chinese labourers being thrown out of work by the Communists; (c) the balloon bursting (bankruptcy) and the labourers being reinstated in their former positions. The second shows a Japanese capitalist demolishing a worker's quarters with an axe. Another shows Chinese being shot down by a foreign policeman, while a fourth is a picture of the Nanking Road gate of Louza police station blocked by a high wall. The cartoons were circulated by the political department of the Woosung and Shanghai constabulary.

A handbill from the Shanghai Labour Union reads: "The Communists still plan to make use of you labourers. Beware! They are seeking admission into your organization. Down with the Communists, the running dogs of red Russia!"

SEDITION CHARGE.

ARRESTED WITH LITERATURE.

A Chinese arrested in Wing Lok Street, early on Monday morning, was brought up before Mr. R. E. Lindell this morning, charged with being in possession of seditious literature.

Sub-Inspector Andrews, who prosecuted, asked the Magistrate to adjourn the case for a week in order that translations may be made of the documents seized.

Before granting the request, Mr. Lindell asked if any rough translation had been made and was informed that one or two pamphlets had been translated and contained seditious phrases.

The man was remanded for one week.

Birmingham industries are benefiting by a substantially improved demand from the British Dominions. A brisk trade is being done in motor-cycles, pedal bicycles, commercial motor-vehicles, and motor-cars. One firm reports that they are bewildered by the magnitude of the business which is coming along and that it has overwhelmed their factory. They are fully booked up until Whit-sun and are embarrassed because they cannot meet the requirements of old customers. Orders are coming from Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, and the reduction of 10 per cent. in the Indian tariff is reviving the demand there for motor-cycles.

LABOUR PICKETS SHOT AT CHANGSHA.

COMMUNIST LEADERS DISAPPEAR.

According to a Changsha message dated May 27, part of the troops stationed there suddenly made a raid on May 21 on the Peasants' Association and the General Labour Union and shot dead more than a dozen members of pickets' corps. The troops also dissolved various labour organizations in the city. As a result of the vigorous step taken by the troops, all Communist leaders have disappeared, and no meetings or parades have since taken place.

The number of the troops now stationed in the city is estimated at approximately 5,000 men, including the 33rd Regiment and part of the 8th, 36th, and 36th Armies. The number of foreigners who still remain in the city is one German and ten Americans.

A number of members of the Peasants' Association still remain in the regions of Hsiangtan and Liling and are now facing the troops.

Shops Closed.

The same message further states:—

Leading shops are still closed, but the city is generally quiet and it is not dangerous for traffic. The houses, which were vacated by those Japanese who have evacuated the city, are sealed with the name of the "Union of the Chinese who are in the employ of foreigners," while it seems that no looting has been committed of Japanese premises.

Many of the posters now in the city are newly-made; their main cry is "Down with arbitrary elements."

Martial law has been enforced in the city and traffic is prohibited between 8 p.m. and 7 a.m.

COLONY'S HEALTH.

DEATHS FROM TYPHOID.

Last week's health return shows that there were six cases of small-pox notified, and four deaths.

There were also nine cases of typhoid fever during the period, three deaths taking place.

Two non-fatal cases of diphtheria were notified, and there was one death from influenza.

All the above sufferers were Chinese, with the exception of one Indian case of typhoid.

The return for yesterday shows that there were four cases of typhoid fever and one case of small-pox. One of the typhoid cases was British.

RISKS ON GOLF LINKS.

WOMAN PLAYER MUST PAY.

The question as to whether a person who goes on a golf course as a spectator and gets injured is entitled to claim for damages was argued in the King's Bench, London, recently.

Miss Jennie Cameron Cleghorn, of 135 Osborne Road, Forest Gate, London, was awarded £150 damages by a jury on Monday against Miss C. M. Oldham, of Sherwood, Windlesham, Surrey. The entering of judgment, however, was deferred pending legal arguments.

Miss Cleghorn alleged that Miss Oldham, in making a demonstration drive, struck her on the cheek, broke her cheek bone, and rendered her unconscious. Miss Oldham replied with a general denial of liability, and said the cause of the accident was the plaintiff's negligence or the plaintiff was liable for contributory negligence. The accident occurred on the West Runton golf course in September 1925, when Miss Cleghorn was 21 and Miss Oldham 19.

The Judge's Decision.

His Lordship, in giving judgment for the plaintiff, said it appeared to him that in playing golf games, as in all other transactions in life, a person must abstain from doing that which a reasonable person would not do in the circumstances in which they found themselves, and if the jury came to the conclusion that in the playing of the game somebody did something which a reasonable player would not do in the circumstances of that particular moment have done, and injury resulted, then that person was guilty of negligence just as much as though the transaction in which the act took place was not a game at all, but was a serious business in life.

His Lordship said he did not think there was any ground for saying that the plaintiff took any risk of the accident which happened to her, and he therefore gave judgment for her, and entered judgment for the £150 damages and costs which she had been awarded by the jury.

"BLACK LISTED."

MOTOR COMPANY'S ACTION.

Arguments were heard in the Chancery Division, London, the other day, on the motion by Auto Mart, London (Ltd.), for an injunction to restrain the officials of the Motor Trade Association from publishing the plaintiffs' name in their "black list," or making any statement calculated to cause the breaking of contracts with the plaintiff.

The Motor Trade Association have a journal, Motor Commerce, in which the "black list" appeared, and it was contended by the plaintiffs that through being placed on the "black list" they had lost contracts.

Counsel stated that the Association used a trap order, and sent a woman to the company with money to buy a car after making an offer for it. The Association then called the company before it, and said they would not be put on the list if they paid a certain sum. The company, declining to pay, was put on the list.

Sir Henry Slesser, K. C., for the company, argued that unlawful means had been employed in putting it on the list.

Mr. Justice Clauson decided that he was bound by the decision of the Court of Appeal in a previous case, and that on the facts before him the plaintiffs had no legal ground for relief. He made no order on the motion, but directed that there should be a speedy trial of the action.

ROTARY AREA.

A CHANGE IN THE CONSTITUTION.

A resolution declaring that the existence of only one national unit in an international movement presented the appearance of duality and the possibility of lack of harmony and understanding, "and recommending support for a resolution to come before the International Conference at Ostend providing for the establishment of area Administrations" was, after amendment on the points of detail, carried at the annual conference of Rotary Clubs of Great Britain and Ireland at the Wharfedale Rooms, Marylebone, London, recently.

The Association for Great Britain and Ireland is the only national unit in the Rotary International, which has its headquarters in Chicago.

A report of the directors stated that this amendment to the constitution was drafted after conversation between Canon Thompson Elliott, of Leeds, and Mr. Vivian Carter, the secretary, and the Board of Rotary International in January last.

Canon Thompson Elliott, who moved the resolution, said the scheme arose from a growing recognition that some devolution of administration from the headquarters in Chicago had become an urgent necessity. The International Board at present had no time to concentrate attention on the really international problems of the movement for which it ought primarily to exist. The Rotary idea was the same everywhere, but its applications varied according to national and Continental requirements, aspirations, and traditions.

"American Ideas."

The proposals were opposed by Mr. W. Alexander, Belfast, who asked, "Are we going to have more harmony among the Anglo-Saxon speaking races if we give up our autonomy and become part and parcel of what I call bogus International Rotary?"

He urged that they should have more territorial or national units. They had now a slight check on American ideas, and there was no reason why one nation should have control of Rotary all over the world.

Mr. T. J. Rees, Swansea, believed that instead of the Pan-Americanism of Rotary the proposals would make for its "Anglicisation."

Canon Elliott, in reply, contended that the scheme did not involve any surrender of autonomy, and that the time was not yet ripe for any other scheme of devolution.

Mr. Sydney W. Pascoe, the president, presented the directors' report, which showed a membership of clubs of 12,334, compared with 11,334 a year ago.

Mr. Thomas Stephenson, Edinburgh, was elected president for next year.

ADMIRAL'S MERRY-GO-ROUND.

SIR PERCY SCOTT'S ACROBATICS.

There are very many interesting stories of celebrities in an anonymous work, "The Joys of Life," by "A Woman of No Importance," published recently.

In a spirited tribute to the late Sir John Cowans, Quartermaster-General during the War, the writer states:—"He was a lovable man, and I doubt if any official during the Great War had larger crowds of both men and women who visited or wrote to him seeking his help for some one in France."

and this was the man whose great work was so soon forgotten and his fallings so well remembered. "It has always seemed to me that it is an impertinence when a man has carried out well and faithfully the work he is engaged to do, and for which he is paid, that his private life should be criticised and interfered with, and still more reprehensible that a perfectly blameless wife should be made to suffer for any mistake that her husband may have made.

"Certainly some of those who passed judgment on Sir John should have remembered the old slogan concerning those who live in glass houses and throwing stones.

"I always admired the way that Sir John met the charges brought against him, for never a word would he say that would throw blame on some of those he had helped, and who were less loyal than himself.

"No doubt his head was somewhat turned by the way some of the big-wig women flattered and pursued him, and he was susceptible to female charms, but in this he was not different from some of those who bore witness against him."

Soldiers' Mothers.

Writing of another soldier, Lord Kitchener, "A Woman of No Importance" says:—

"Lord Kitchener, though his mother died when he was very young, said more than once to me, when speaking of certain episodes in his life—I did it because I felt that it was what my mother would have wished. Another time, when people began to tear him to pieces, when I was speaking of his success, he said, 'I wish my mother had lived to see it' and he spoke feelingly."

The writer continues, "Lord Roberts was another who spoke tenderly of his mother, and of her religious teaching, which lived with him all his life. He said he never went into any action in his life without a prayer that God would protect her and give her happiness, and later, when she was gone, that he would grant her soul repose."

Of the late Admiral Sir Percy Scott the writer records that he came to her assistance in the arrangement of a garden party, by suggesting a merry-go-round as a diversion.

"He insisted in his most persuasive manner on stately grandmothers and maiden aunts of uncertain age riding on some of the beautiful yellow horses with blue tails. His joy was great when the ladies shrieked, 'Stop! stop! I shall fall off!' He shouted to them and nobody could stop until the music did. To add to the fun Sir Percy took off his coat and did acrobatic feats on and off the horses to the tune of 'Linger longer, Lucy.'"

When Foch Learned to Smoke.

Here is a story of the leader of the Allied Armies in 1918:—

"General Foch... did not... smoke anything but an occasional cigarette until our General, Sir Henry Wilson, arrived in France and he tried to initiate General Foch into the joys of a pipe."

For some weeks General Foch struggled with it manfully, resulting in hiccups, and a feeling of nausea.

"Once when our activities at the front were looking very black he was found sitting in a dejected attitude, his head resting in his hand. All present were respectful and sympathetic, thinking that he had broken down under the strain of his responsibilities. Happily it was discovered he was only struggling with his pipe, trying to make it draw. The ground around him was white with spent matches."

The late Sir Frank Lockwood, once Solicitor-General, also figures in these pages.

Once he was lunching with a party which included a bore who (states the writer) "Could not speak without bringing in the names of the dukes and big-wigs he had known or said he had known."

Presently, Sir Frank said, "Do you know General Stores?" "Oh yes," replied the bore. "He's a rare good sort." "Ah," said Lockwood, "he lives over there," pointing to the other side of the street where there was a large Emporium with a huge board bearing the words "General Stores."

GERMAN TRADE IN FAR EAST.

LARGE GAINS MADE IN CHINA FIELD.

That German trade is experiencing an unprecedented boom in China, and in India and Japan as well is shown by an exhaustive investigation by the British United Press.

Nationalist anti-British propaganda in China has given Germany considerable trade gains from Britain, and has enabled Germany to recapture and in many cases enlarge markets lost in China during the war. In the Far East generally Germany is very successfully competing with Japanese and American goods.

In China Germany has been helped by the fact that she defaulted her special privileges in China in 1921, and thus voluntarily forfeited the rights which the Chinese are now seeking to gain from the other Powers by force of arms. Germany has not been slow to take advantage of this favourable political position.

Immediately after the war many of Germany's customers in China went over to other Powers; in 1920 British exports to China were three times larger than before the war, and American exports five times above pre-war level. But since 1924, when she established her currency, Germany has forged ahead rapidly in China.

"Since the re-appearance of Germany in the Chinese markets the sale of British and American goods has slumped," the spokesman of the German Federation of Industries declared in reply to an inquiry.

A striking fact is that Germany's exports to China increased at the very time when China's total imports were dropping rapidly.

Some Interesting Figures.

During the last three years German exports to China have gone up 33 per cent, British exports have slumped 20 per cent, and American exports have held their own. In 1926 German exports to China totalled £7,575,000, as against £6,500,000 in 1913. The British figure for the same year was £36,400,000 as against £30,300,000 in 1924 and £14,800,000 in 1913. In February of this year the British Board of Trade officially announced that British exports to China had dropped by £10,000,000 since the same month last year. American exports to China totalled £22,040,000 last year as against £4,000,000 in 1913.

A striking fact is that Germany occupies first place among the nations from which China imports arms and ammunition. But it must be noted, however, that Germany often serves only as a transit territory for other countries in this trade. The Hamburg shipping firms have recently placed an embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition to China and the effect will be worth noting.

German commerce with Japan and India also discloses a remarkable ascent. German exports to Japan last year reached the record of $11,838,000 as against $6,180,000 in 1913.

Trade with India tells exactly the same tale. Last year German exports to India totalled $12,258,000, having risen rapidly from $7,697,000 in 1924.

IRISH TOBACCO "KING."

STARTED SHOP AT SEVENTEEN.

The death occurred last month at his residence near Belfast of Mr. Thomas Gallaher, head of the well-known tobacco manufacturing firm of Gallaher (Ltd.).

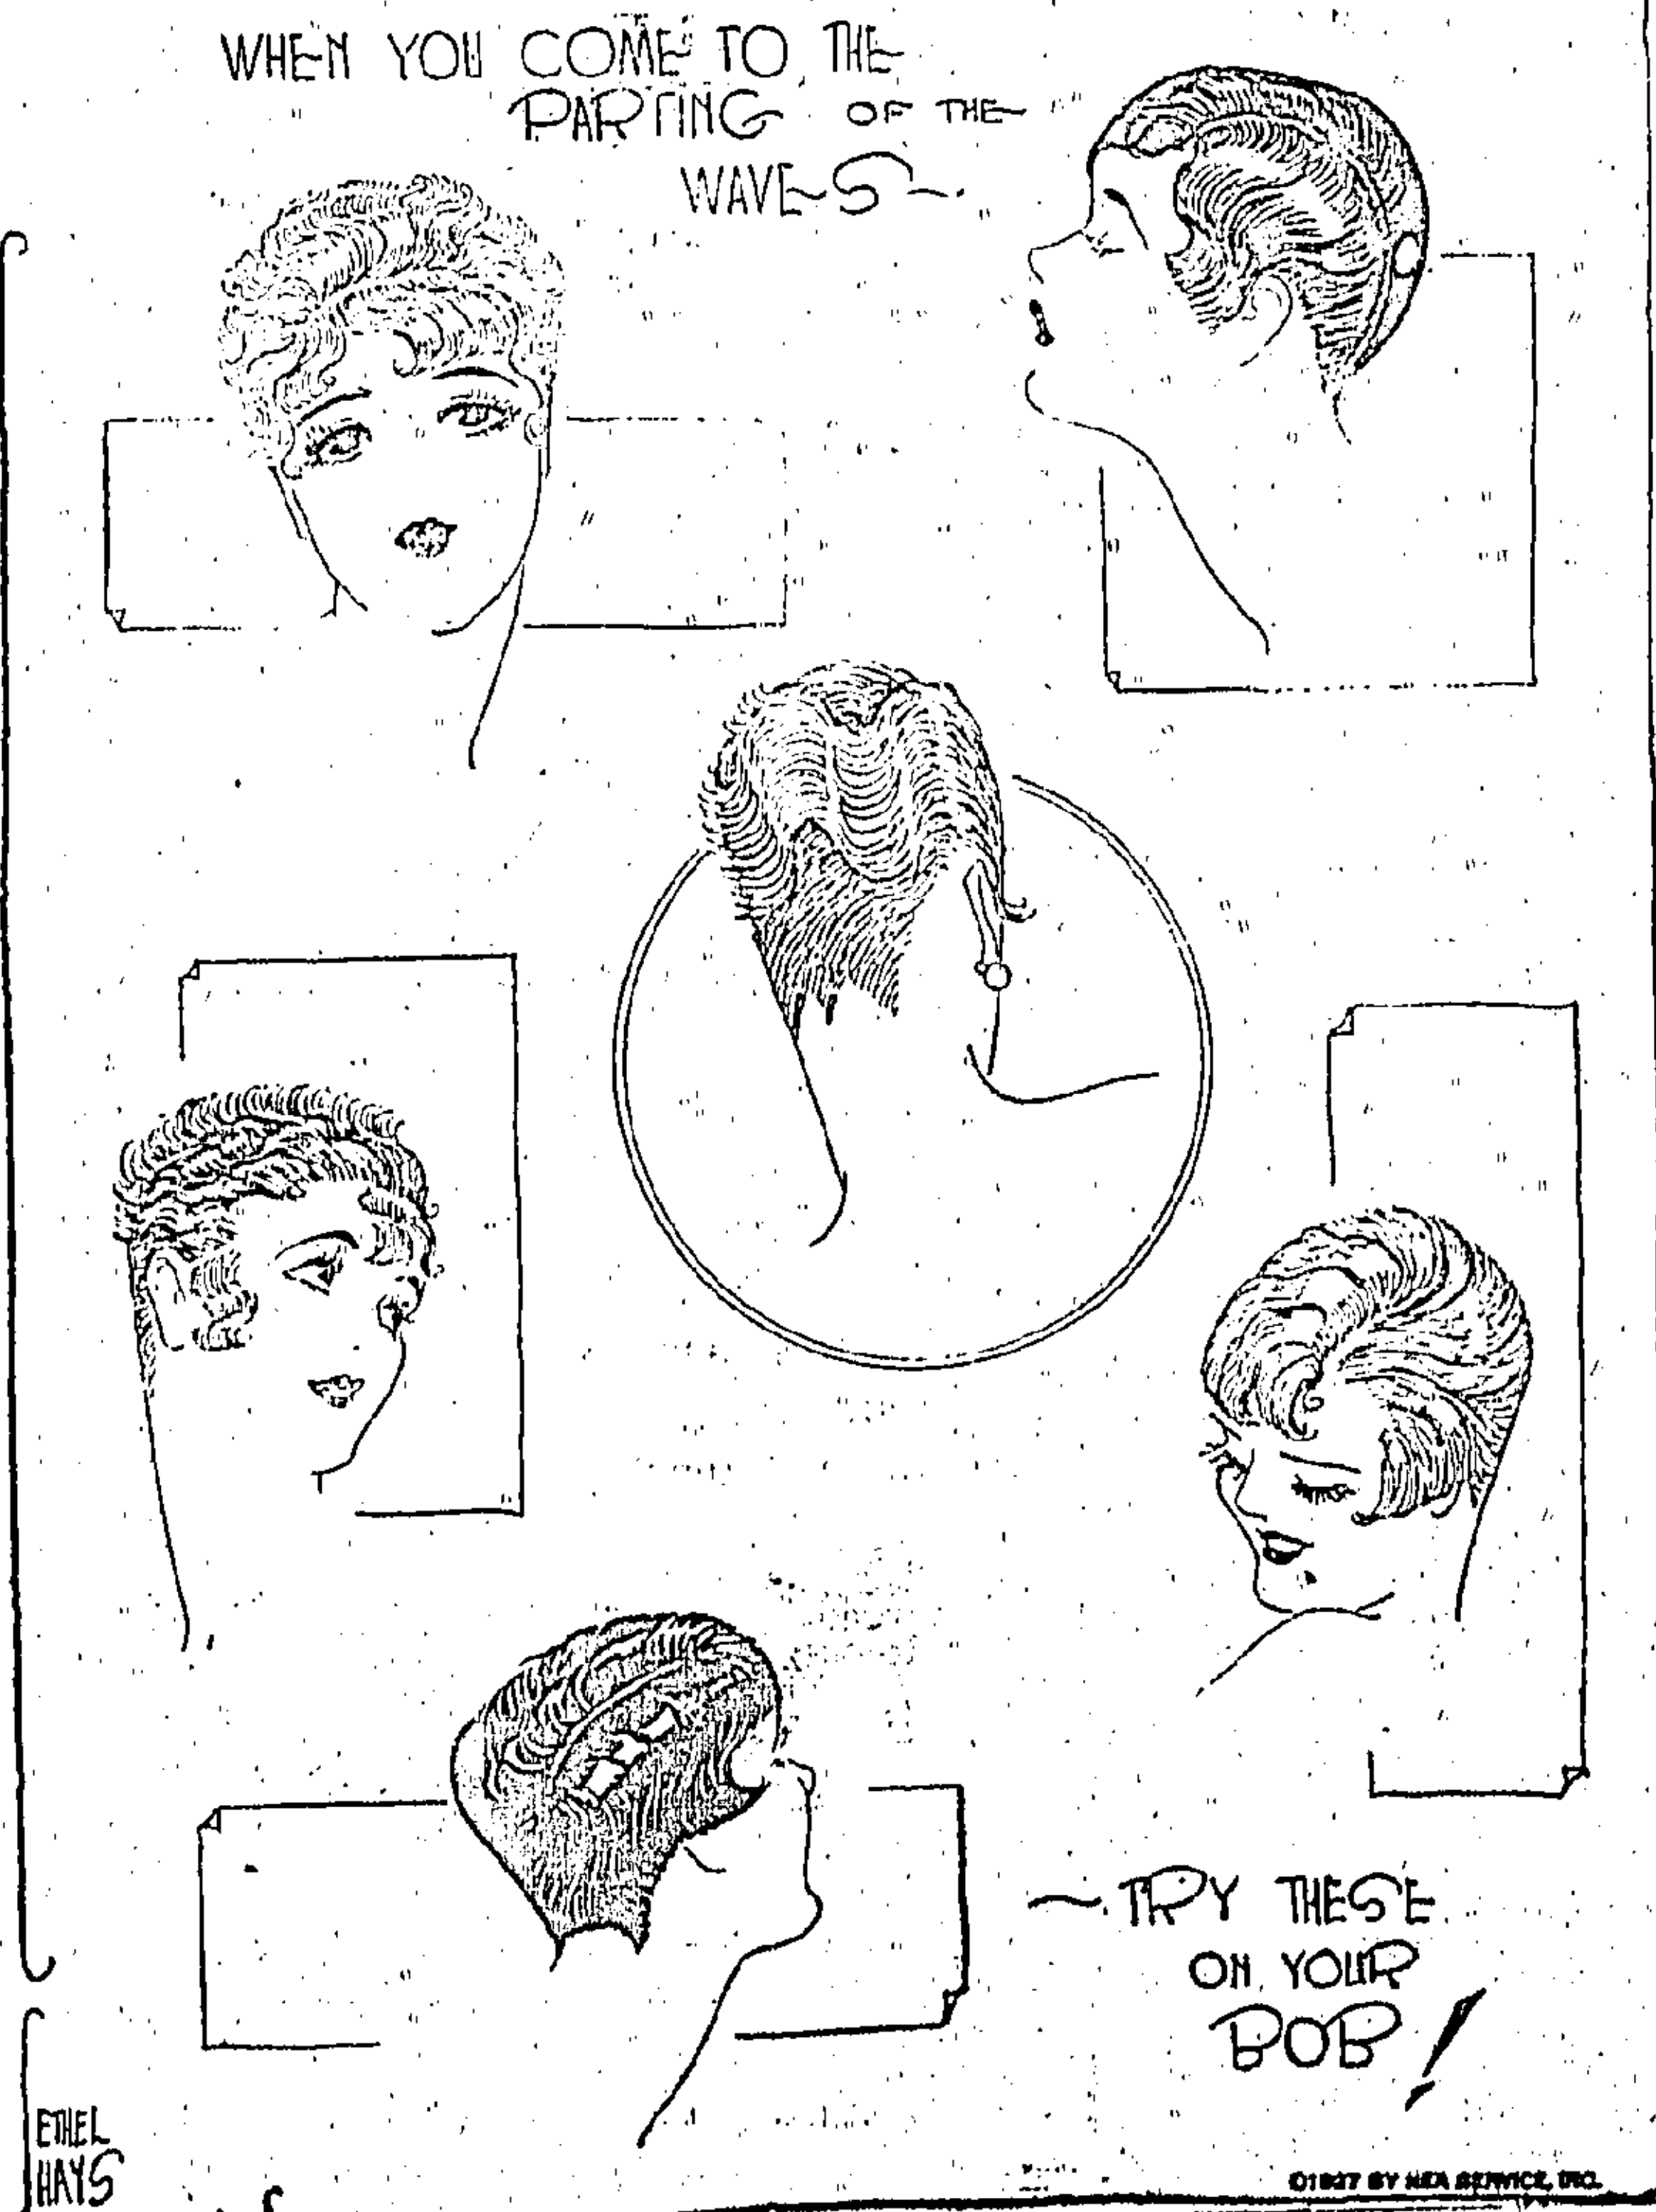

Aged 87, a native of Co. Derry, he was one of the most remarkable Irishmen of his time. He commenced business on his own account as a tobacconist in Derry at the age of 17, and he transferred the business to Belfast ten years later, and from that time it grew prodigiously. In 1896, it was turned into a limited company and four years later, the company paid the largest cheque that had ever been paid to the Customs—£142,227, for tobacco withdrawn from bond.

Mr. Gallaher paid many visits to America where he had various plantations and factories, and where his name was as well-known as in this country. He was for many years chairman of the Belfast Steamship Co., whose vessels plied between Belfast and Liverpool.

When two German stowaways and a Russian Pole were at Hull sentenced to 21 days' imprisonment with hard labour and recommended for deportation for landing without permission, an alien officer said the increasing number of aliens landing at British ports was causing anxiety to the authorities.

NEW ZEALAND TO-DAY.

BISHOP OF LONDON'S IMPRESSIONS.

The Bishop of London, in a letter to the Times, written from R. M. S. Maunganui, describes his stay in New Zealand. The letter is as follows:

"You will love New Zealand when you get there," so every one said, and so we did. Whether it is the brilliant sunshine, or the hospitality of the people, or the sporting character of the rainbow trout that most impresses the visitor depends a little bit on the character and tastes of the visitor himself, but so far as I was concerned all of them appealed to me.

To take the climate first; after the earthquakes of Japan, the piercing cold of Korea, the drought and floods of Australia, it was refreshing to come to a place which was neither too hot nor too cold, and where they expected a sunny day. At the same time we were told that they did not always get one, and were especially warned of the folly of the migrants who sell their greatcoats before starting and part with their old clothes, whereas they want their greatcoats just as much as in England and their old clothes to start upon any job which they may find going on arrival. But I will come back to the migrant in a moment.

Meanwhile, do let me dwell upon the hospitality of the people of New Zealand and their loyalty to the Old Country. When I heard that the Duke and Duchess of York were going to visit New Zealand at the same time, I nearly cut out New Zealand for fear of being dropped, but I am very glad I did not, as the hearts of New Zealanders were big enough for everybody from the Old Country, and the immense meetings which I addressed at Wellington, Auckland, and Christchurch (Dunedin had, alas! to be left for lack of time) could not have been increased even if the good New Zealanders had not been giving an enthusiastic welcome to their Royal guests at the same time. I was able at Christchurch to join in the welcome to the Duke and Christ's College, the best-known public school in New Zealand, where I had preached earlier in the morning. He was able to secure an extra week for the boys, and I a humble half-holiday, as befitted our relative positions; but the boys did not do badly that morning. There was, of course, great disappointment that the Duchess could not come to the South Island; but by this time I hope and trust that she will long ago have been well and fit again.

Fishing Joys.

The trout fishing on the Tongariro River is no doubt the finest in the world. I have caught many salmon in Scotland, but they do not as a rule leap five times 3ft. into the air, as a 9lb. rainbow trout did, and if a mere Bishop could get seven, weighing 40 lb., in 24 hours, what could not a clever layman do? But to come to more serious matters: What is the Christian Church doing and what are the prospects of the immigrant? If you read a book like "Old New Zealand," by Manning, who himself married a Maori wife and lived among them, and realize that a little more than hundred years ago the whole island was inhabited by fierce man-eating cannibals, it is perfectly astounding what the Christian Church has done, and one takes off one's hat to men like Samuel Marsden and Bishop Selwyn and the early Methodist missionaries, who in a hundred years have turned these wild tribes into the most law-abiding, happy, though not too energetic, people, who give the tourist a hearty welcome wherever he goes. They are all Christians now of one denomination or another, although some have temporarily followed some wild prophet, who has, however, rather lost his prestige by being taken up as "drunk and disorderly" by the police. The early colonists, of course, naturally brought their Christian religion with them; Dunedin, as is well known, was chiefly peopled by Scotch Presbyterians, and Christchurch was at first a definitely Church of England settlement; but naturally, as time has gone on, all sorts of people have settled in both, and it was a most eloquent Mayor, M.P., a Baptist minister mayor, who insisted on giving me a civic welcome in Christchurch at 12 on the very day when he was going to welcome the Duke of York at five.

Prospects for Settlers.

With regard to emigration; after three-quarters of an hour's talk to the Prime Minister and three-quarters of an hour with the Governor-General and the same with the Labour Party, I have come to the conclusion that New Zealand can absorb at present 10,000 people a year, but not more at present. The Labour Party are very much frightened by the appearance for the first time of a few hundreds of unemployed in their cities; the shrap in New Zealand butter in Tooley-street has hit the farmers; land went up to an exaggerated price during the butter boom before and after the war, and some men are "walking on" their farms, being quite unable to pay the mortgages

PIANO RECITAL.

CLEVER PLAYING BY MR. ORE'S PUPILS.

Their work revealing the careful training they had undergone, the pupils of Mr. Harry Ore gave a recital at St. John's Cathedral Hall yesterday evening when there was an excellent attendance. The programme was delightfully varied and each individual pupil showed a complete knowledge of the pieces they played. An interesting feature was the Sonata for two pianos by Mozart and Grieg played by Miss Rose Choy and Mr. Ore.

The programme was a lengthy one and it would no doubt have assisted the pupil who played towards the end if the hall had been illuminated as the latter part of the recital was given in semi darkness.

The full programme was as follows.

- (a) March "Under the Banner of Victory" (Duet) Blon.
- (b) Pizzicato (Duet) Delibes.
- Miss Ethel Barker.
- The Song of the Robin Warren.
- Miss Jessie Wang.
- Coronation March Meyerbeer.
- Miss Muriel Gubbay.
- Fragment from "The Dance of the Hours" Puccini.
- Miss Irene Gittins.
- (a) Serenade (Duet) Drigo.
- (b) La Coquette (Duet) Borovsky.
- Miss Phoebe To.
- Madrigal (Duet) Lack.
- Miss Elvira Rosario.
- (a) Cradle Song (Duet) Esplanoff.
- (b) Marionette's Funeral Gounod.
- Mr. Donald Anderson.
- (a) Au Matin (Duet) Godard.
- (b) Murmuring Brook (Duet) Poldini.
- Miss Grace Ho Tung.
- (a) Sonata for 2 pianos Mozart—Grieg.
- (b) Consolation (Duet) Liszt.
- (c) Gavotte (Duet) Elgar.
- Miss Rose Choy.
10. Impromptu in A flat Schubert.
- Miss Hilda Xavier.
11. Habanera (Duet) Chabrier.
- Miss Winifred Kuo.
- (a) Romance for 2 pianos Arensky.
- (b) Valse in A flat Chopin.
- Miss Myra Gutierrez.
- (a) The Lark (Duet) Glinka.
- (b) Valse in G flat Chopin.
- Miss Daisy Ma.
- (a) Valse in A flat Brahms.
- (b) Second Mazurka (Duet) Godard.
- Mr. Henry Kuo.
- (a) Liebestraum (Duet) Liszt.
- (b) Prelude in G minor Rachmaninoff.
- Miss Alda Leon.
- Valse from "Faust" Gounod—Liszt.
- Mr. H. Ore.

GOLF.

WHITSUNTIDE MEETING AT FANLING.

The Whitsuntide meeting at Fanling attracted quite a good number of competitors. The weather was warm and the course hard and dry. Twenty-five cards were taken out in the Captain's Cup, A. Leach qualifying with a score of 91—11=80. In the bogey pool K. Hunt (4) and D. G. Bruce (10) finished all square and divided the prize. Other scores H. H. M. Oliver (12) and D. G. Bruce (10), one down. Forty cards were taken out. In the Medal Round, in which 28 cards were taken out, H. H. M. Oliver won with a score of 88—12=76. Other scores were N. L. Smith 84—7=77, T. D. E. Pendered 82—3=79, H. G. Hegarty 89—10=79. Nine pairs entered for the best ball in foursomes, N. L. Smith and Capt. Blocher winning with 76—7=63. Other scores were Capt. Morris and Capt. Le Gros 81—8=73, J. H. Wood and K. Hunt 81—8=73.

which they ought never to have contracted to pay. But all these things will settle down in time, and meanwhile the Government is probably right in discouraging migration for three months until they have done so; but even this, the Prime Minister explained, does not apply to farm lads, domestic servants, or certain classes of labour.

One thing is quite clear. New Zealand can absorb any number of farm lads who are willing to go on the land. "Flock House" is a gift from the farmers of New Zealand to the children of the sailors who lost their lives in the war, and is an excellent example of what should be done. There English boys are trained for six months on a farm of 3,000 acres and are "gobbled up" by the farmers of the back blocks at a pound a week and their keep. Many of them can have in a few years enough to start on their own; but even would do well to wait till prices have found their proper level. One had sent out by the Church Emigration Society got three days off to come to see us; he had had three rises in six months, and was now getting 37s. 6d. a week and his keep.

And so, farwell New Zealand, set in the silver sea as fairly as the Mother Country on the other side of the world. Macaulay pictured a New Zealander seated on a fragment of London Bridge, sketching the ruins of St. Paul's. I believe that a truer picture will be a proud mother, stronger than ever, pointing across to a beloved daughter nation, growing in influence and power more like her every year.

FAR EASTERN GAMES.

TO BE HELD IN SHANGHAI
DESPITE WAR.

In regard to the Far Eastern Olympic Games, Mr. C. T. Wang, head of the Chinese Olympic Committee, interviewed by Rengo, said: "Despite the disturbances occasioned by internal factional warfare, we have decided to hold the Far Eastern Olympic this year in Shanghai, according to agreement, and have already formally announced that decision to Japan and the Philippines."

"Our Chinese sport champions in North and South, except those at Hankow, have entered for the games, which is proposed to hold in the stadium in the Chinese Athletic Ground in the French Concession, except swimming events, which will take place at the pool in the New Park. The heats for the various events in the Shanghai district will be held in June.
"I must add, however," said Mr. Wang in conclusion, "that the prospect of Chinese being a winner in the forthcoming Olympic appears at this moment very slight, except, perhaps, in football, volleyball and basket-ball."

COLONIAL INSTITUTE.

INTERNATIONAL BODY
OPENED IN PEACE PALACE.

Hague, June 7.
The Prince Consort as its President, opened the nineteenth session of the International Colonial Institute at the Peace Palace. It was attended by forty-two delegates, including those from Britain, Holland, France, Japan, the United States and Portugal.—Reuter.

NAVAL DISARMAMENT.

AMBASSADOR TO HEAD
AMERICAN DELEGATION.

Washington, June 7.
President Coolidge has nominated Mr. Hugh Gibson, Ambassador to Belgium, Chairman of the American Delegation to the naval disarmament conference at Geneva.—Reuter's American Service.

RIGHT TO WORK.

LABOUR M.P. TELLS HIS STORY.

When the debate on the Trade Union Bill was resumed in the House of Commons in mail week,
Mr. G. A. Spencer, formerly a Labour member for a mining district, but "cast out" by that party for his actions during the coal dispute, continued his speech.

Mr. Spencer spoke from the Liberal benches, amid some jeers from the Labour benches. Dealing particularly with intimidation,
he said that intolerance, bigotry, victimisation, and coercion were not confined to periods of excitement or of strife. They were as much rampant amongst those who were supposed to be standing for the freedom and liberty of the individual associated with Trade Unions as anybody else.

Mr. Spencer said he would make one or two remarks about himself and what transpired not many weeks ago. (Ministerial cheers.) I would like, he said, to preface my remarks by saying that the very people who are loudest in their demand for British justice and for fair play for every foreigner on God's earth have denied it to one of their own.
(Loud Ministerial cheers.)

Prepared to Sacrifice Himself.

A telephone bell rang in my office, continued Mr. Spencer, and I was called to a meeting several miles away at a particular pit. That very day they had had a deputation to see the manager of men wanting to start work. Seventy per cent. were already at work,
and 30 per cent. wanted to go.
The manager said, "You've been away so long that I am going to choose now who is going to return." The man got the wind up. They sent for me to come.

I went and addressed the men, and of all men, the man who moved the resolution in that meeting was a Communist who afterwards had to apologise for his action. That man moved a resolution that I should be requested next day to go to see the manager to get these men the right to return to work.

I told them in that meeting—I am not making any bones about it—that I was expecting to sacrifice myself. I told them, disbelieving in the policy of Mr.
Cook and the Federation, that I was quite prepared to sacrifice myself. (Ministerial cheers.) I went next day to the colliery at their request.

At this point there was an outburst of Labour interruption, and Mr. Spencer said:—Well, you might listen to my side. You have had a garbled account. But I am telling you the truth for once. (Ministerial cheers.) I got these men, every one, the right to return to work.

"I Am a Victimised Man."

For getting the men the right to return to their own jobs I myself have been victimised, Mr. Spencer proceeded. I am a victimised man for doing that charitable act to my fellow-men. What happened?
I was sent from London. I was ill in bed.

I got out of bed, for I would have seen that man who is a dictator of the Miners' Federation in hell before I would let him say I would not dare to go. I went and was suspended for doing my duty to my fellow-men.

Mr. Spencer said that after that there was a council of action in Nottingham and they had the men out again. Some of those men had never returned to work again, and upon his shoulders they were putting the blame when it should have been put upon those who compelled the men to come out again.
(Hear, hear.)

The Nottingham Association suspended him before hearing what he had got to say. They condemned him first and then heard what he had to say afterwards.
All that he did was in the interests of the men themselves.

Mr. Sutton inquired whether what the hon. member was saying had anything to do with the present Bill. (Labour cheers.)

The Speaker—I understand that the hon. member was dealing with the clause which referred to intimidation. (Ministerial cheers.)

The New Movement.

Mr. Spencer went on to say that the new movement with which he had become associated was not organised by himself. It was formed spontaneously among the men who had been thrown out of the Council Chamber. (Loud Ministerial cheers.) It was not alone intimidation. Here among these men—(pointing to the Labour party)—there had been a vile diabolical misrepresentation of himself. (Ministerial cheers.)

He pointed out that from the first when they organised they had been able to get enough money to pay their way and they had now a bank balance of £3000. He pointed out that he had obtained £10,000 for the Nottingham miners who would not have had a penny if it had not been for the action of the

GENERAL ANTI-"RED"
MOVEMENT.

processions were held in the day and at night as a demonstration against the Communists. Those were largely attended, the participants including all classes of the population, of both sexes. The parade of anti-Reds is estimated to have numbered over 2,000 persons.

It is reported that the anti-British feeling is not now so intense. The missionaries of German nationality are still carrying on at their posts.

All Kwangtung soldiers are being moved; their place being taken by troops from Kwangsi.

The local twenty-cent piece is evidently not composed of much silver, as a Hongkong or Haiphong dollar is now only obtained at $2.40 in local currency.

owners. That was not done in the dark or in a secret manner.

He told them what he was asking for so that it could not be said afterwards that he was seeking a bribe for some services he had rendered.

The House could believe him or not when he told them that his wife and himself considered the position and he told her what he thought was the true economic fact of the industry. He also told her what he thought it was his duty to do, and said that he expected that he would have to get a fresh job.

They agreed that he should go back to the pit again if necessary in order perhaps to get some job rather than that he should poison his fingers (loud Ministerial cheers in which the remainder of the sentence was lost.)

If ever a man had been victimised by his fellow men, and convicted without a trial, and without an opportunity of giving his own point of view, if ever an ex parte verdict had been given against a man, that man was himself. But he could now look the Labour leaders in the face with nothing to fear, for he had been actuated by the highest possible motives on behalf of the men he had tried to serve. (Ministerial cheers.)

Union Funds.

Something should be done to protect those men who were seeking to serve their fellows in these difficult times, and he would like to say this to his Liberal friends.
They had built up their cause upon great fundamental principles and if, he added, the doddering hand of detraction or the stealthy hand of dissension seeks to steal the mantle from liberty to cover the nudity of pretence they are going to fail. They will not win a single vote by diverting the fundamental principles of individual liberty.

After a further appeal to his Liberal friends not to desert a cause of the working man when he was terrorised by sections who only wanted to use him for their own ends, Mr. Spencer went on to criticise the use of Trade Union general funds for political purposes. He particularly cited the case of the Miners' Federation and asserted that expenses of political activity were taken from industrial funds in that Union. (Labour interruption and dissent.)

Mr. Varley interjected that the balance-sheet was put right eighteen months ago in this respect.

Mr. Spencer—He knows as well as I know that at the annual conference, which is more or less three-quarters political, the expenses of the delegates are not taken from the political funds but from the industrial funds.

Inside the Trade Union movement, he declared, politics should be taboo. (Labour cries of dissent.) I do not expect you to agree, he said, addressing his former colleagues. That only shows what a perverted mind you have got.

At the conclusion of Mr. Spencer's speech there was loud booing by the Labour members which continued for some time and Mr. J.
Jones shouted, "Good old Judas Isariot."

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW?

The following are answers to
to-day's questions.

1. Sir Walter Raleigh. 2. On June 22, 1789, when the French National Assembly met on the Tennis court of the Rue St. Francois. 3.
A pond, usually found on chalky down, which is fed only by dew, mist, and rain. 4. In 1910.
5. The smallest. 6. Amethysts—not drunken. 7. Suez Canal. 8. Saulte Ste. Marie (U.S.A.). 9. Kilauea. 10. The villain of Act 4 of the play "The Merchant of Venice."
11. Samuel Richardson's novel "Clarissa."
12. Because of an inscription found on a Polish plut. 13. In 1936, when Suez's army was defeated by the British. 14. The word "Bible" with deadly rightness by the Scots. 15. Sold to have been seen who informed the authority of Africa of the existence of him, which was forbidden. The word meant a "big delusion." 16. "For whom advantage?" (Not What is the great of 17?) 17. Robert Burton.
John Lely, Ruyter. 18. Secrecy.

A remarkable incident marked the opening match of the season on Campbeltown Bowling Club's green at Stronvaar. Play was about to begin when an adder was seen to glide from below a bush and wrig-gle rapidly along the pathway in front of the pavilion. Its objective seemed to be the hedges on the opposite side of the ground, but before it got there the greenkeeper had overtaken it and killed it. The reptile, which was some sixteen inches in length, has been identified as a female of last season's brood.
It must have come from the slopes of Bongullion, a mile away, crossing rough ground and several roadways in its journey. The appearance of an adder within the town of Campbeltown is unprecedented.

Mrs. Alice Mary Pleydell Bouverie (formerly Ingram), of High-bury-grove, N., was granted a do-ceso-nisi in mail week on the ground of the unproved adultery of her husband, Mr. Phillip Hales Pleydell Bouverie, whose address and occupation were not disclosed.
A decrees nisi was also pronounced in favour of Mrs. Ada Margaret Frossard. Her husband, Dr.
Philip Edward Frossard, did not contest the charge of adultery. At one time the parties lived at Do-Vere-gardens, London.
